You will receive your first weekly minimum stipend from your host family two weeks after you arrive in the U.S. Prior to receiving a weekly minimum stipend from your host family, you will need to bring money to the U.S. to cover expenses. Expenses may include: pocket money for incidentals during your first two weeks, optional NYC tour while at Orientation, luggage fees if you are flying from Orientation to your host family.

The weekly minimum stipend may not cover all of your expenses pending your personal situation and needs that may include, but not limited to study allowance for costs that exceed amount covered by the host family, travel and activities and possible expenses as described in the Au Pair Terms and Conditions. You should plan to bring additional personal funds.
